1. STAFF BENEFITS

Wellbeing, Commute, & Non-Car Park User Allowance Eligibility

The purpose of the employee well-being benefit is to support the physical, mental, and emotional health of our team members. This benefit is exclusively for employees only and is not extended to family members or friends. By investing in our team's well-being, we aim to foster a positive, productive, and supportive work environment.

Wellbeing Allowance Usage

- The Wellbeing Allowance is intended to support the health and personal wellness of each staff member, encouraging activities that promote physical, mental, or emotional well-being.
- This allowance is strictly for the employee's use only and may not be spent on family members, friends, or pets.
- If you are unsure whether an item qualifies as a wellbeing expense, please consult HR for prior approval before purchasing and claiming reimbursement.
- Employees are eligible for up to NZ$500.00 per year.

Soft Commute Allowance

- In the broadest sense, soft mobility refers to all non-motorized means of transportation, including cycling and its derivatives, walking, train, skateboarding, scooter use, or any form of public or private transport that produces no CO₂ emissions.
- Eligibility criteria for Soft Commute Allowance may change from year to year. Please contact HR for prior approval on expense reimbursement eligibility related to soft commute expenses.
- Employees are eligible for up to NZ$500.00 per year.

Non-Car Park User Allowance (New Zealand only)

- The Non-Car Park User Allowance will be provided to employees who do not use a company-paid car park.
- This allowance is applicable to employees based in Auckland only.
- Employees are eligible for up to NZ$500.00 per year.

Eligibility Based on Start Date

- All employees are entitled to the Wellbeing, Commute, and Non-Car Park User Allowances.
However, any new staff joining the company after July 1 each year will receive 50% of these benefits for that calendar year.
- Employees who joined the company prior to July 1 will be entitled to the full (100%) allowance for the year.

Remote Employees

- Staff who work remotely full-time, meaning they do not commute to the office at any time due to their location, are encouraged to contact HR to determine their eligibility on soft commute allowance.
- Eligibility on commute allowance for full-time remote employees will be assessed on a case-by-case basis by HR.

These guidelines aim to provide clarity on allowance eligibility and usage to ensure fairness across the team.

If you have any questions or require further information on this, contact the Human Resources team.

2. LEAVE

Annual Leave (AL)

The policy outlines entitlements and procedures for the use of annual leave in accordance with the Holidays Act 2003. The aim is to ensure employees are able to take regular breaks for rest and wellbeing, while maintaining operational continuity.

Entitlement

- Employees are entitled to four weeks' paid annual leave after each 12 months of continuous employment.
- Part-time employees receive a pro-rated entitlement based on their agreed hours of work.
- Annual leave does not include public holidays, sick leave, or bereavement leave.

Accrual and Use

- Leave entitlements begin to accrue from the first day of employment but become available only after 12 months of continuous service.
- Leave can be taken by agreement between the employee and employer.
- Employees are encouraged to take annual leave within 12-18 months of it becoming due.

Requesting Leave

- All leave must be requested through the organisation's leave system (or written form if applicable) and approved in advance by the relevant manager.
- Managers will consider operational needs when approving leave requests but will not unreasonably withhold approval.

Employer-Directed Leave

- The employer may require employees to take annual leave, provided a minimum of 14 days' notice is given.
- This may apply during seasonal shutdowns or when leave balances are excessive (e.g. more than 8 weeks accrued).

Payment for Leave

- Annual leave is paid at the higher of ordinary weekly pay or average weekly earnings over the previous 12 months, in line with the Holidays Act.
- Payment is usually made in the regular pay cycle, unless requested otherwise at least one week in advance.

Cashing Up Leave

- Employees may request to cash up up to one week of their annual leave per entitlement year.
- Requests must be in writing and may be approved or declined at the employer's discretion.

Public Holidays and Sick Leave While on Annual Leave

- If a public holiday falls during a period of annual leave, it is not deducted from the employee's leave entitlement.
- If an employee becomes sick or injured during annual leave and provides reasonable evidence, the affected days may be reclassified as sick leave.

Termination of Employment

- Upon termination, any unused annual leave and any pro-rata leave earned but not yet entitled will be paid out.
- If annual leave was taken in advance and not yet earned, the employer may recover the amount from the final pay.

Advance Annual Leave

The purpose is to maintain fairness and consistency across all teams, the following guidelines have been established for approving Advance Annual Leave. These practices aim to balance employee flexibility with operational efficiency.

Managers may approve up to a maximum of 5 days of Advance Annual Leave. This limit is intended to offer employees flexibility while minimizing potential financial and operational risks to the organization.

By setting a clear boundary, we can ensure fairness and avoid creating undue burden on the business.

Leave Without Pay (LWOP)

The purpose to maintain fairness and consistency across all teams, the following guidelines have been established for approving Leave Without Pay. These practices aim to balance employee flexibility with operational efficiency.

Requests for Leave Without Pay should be evaluated on a case-by-case basis and require Human Resource (HR) approval.

This process ensures that each request is carefully considered, balancing employee needs with the operational impact on the team. HR involvement helps maintain consistent decision-making and fairness across the company.

Time in Lieu (TIL)

This policy sets out the guidelines for the accrual and use of Time in Lieu (TIL) when employees are required to work additional hours outside of their regular work schedule. It ensures a fair and consistent approach while maintaining operational flexibility.

Definition of Time in Lieu

Time in Lieu (TIL) refers to paid time off granted instead of overtime pay when an employee works additional hours, by prior agreement with their manager.

Note: TIL is not a statutory entitlement under the Holidays Act 2003 and is offered at the employer's discretion as part of internal workplace policy.

Eligibility

- TIL may be available to salaried or waged employees, depending on their role and employment agreement.
- It applies to pre-approved additional hours worked outside of standard hours.
- Employees in senior or flexible roles may not be eligible for TIL unless otherwise agreed.

Earning TIL

- Employees must obtain manager approval before working extra hours that may qualify for TIL.
- TIL is accrued on a time-for-time basis (e.g. 3 hours worked = 3 hours of TIL), unless otherwise agreed.
- All TIL earned must be recorded and approved using the organisation's time tracking system or other agreed method.
- For on-call duties or overtime, the well-being of employees is prioritised, and the use of TIL for rest is strongly encouraged. It is recommended that this TIL be used within 7 days of being earned to support work-life balance.
- All TIL must be entered in Tanda in advance for manager approval.

Taking TIL

- Employees must request and receive approval to take TIL in advance, considering operational requirements.
- TIL must be taken within 12 months of the date it is earned.
- Managers will remind employees of outstanding TIL balances and encourage timely use.

Work Anniversary Leave

This policy sets out the guidelines for the accrual and use of Work Anniversary Leave. It provides a small additional leave benefit to recognise employee service milestones, while ensuring consistency and fairness across the organisation.

Definition of Work Anniversary Leave

Work Anniversary Leave refers to an additional 1 day of paid leave granted to employees each year on the anniversary of their employment start date.

Eligibility

- All permanent employees are eligible for Work Anniversary Leave.
- Eligibility begins after the first full year of service (i.e., from the first anniversary of employment onwards).

Accrual

- Employees accrue 1 day of Work Anniversary Leave each year on their employment anniversary date.
- The leave is credited to the employee's leave balance on that date.

Usage

- Work Anniversary Leave should ideally be used within 2 months of the accrual date.
- Exceptions may be made on a case-by-case basis, subject to operational requirements.
- Any unused Work Anniversary Leave outside the 2-month period may lapse, unless otherwise approved by HR.

Approval

- Employees must submit a leave request in the usual manner.
- Approval from the HR Department is required before Work Anniversary Leave can be taken.
